

A Romance of the Spanish Main CAPTAIN BLOOD RAFAEL SABATINI

Copyrighted, 1922, by Rafael Sabatini

"CAPTAIN BLOOD," a Vitaphone picture with J. Warren Kerrigan in the title role, is an adaptation of this thrilling novel.

CHAPTER XX.

Hostages

Peter Blood made his way through the house to the wide piazza behind it. In whose shade were Colonel Bishop and his Lord Julian Wade.

"I have sent for you, Captain Blood, because of certain news that has reached me," the Deputy Governor said. "I am informed that yesterday evening a frigate left the harbor having on board your associate Wolverstone and a hundred men of the hundred and fifty that were serving under you. His lordship and I shall be glad to have your explanation of how you came to permit that departure."

"Permit?" quoth Blood. "I ordered it."

"Swounds! Whither has Wolverstone gone?"

"To Tortuga. He's gone with a message to the officers commanding the other four ships of the fleet that is awaiting me there, telling them what's happened and why they are no longer to expect me."

"You hear that, my lord? Deliberately he has let Wolverstone loose upon the seas again—Wolverstone, the worst of all that gang of pirates after himself. It's treason! It's matter for a court-martial."

"Will you cease your blather of treason and court-martial?" Blood put on his hat, and sat down unbidden. "I have sent Wolverstone to inform Hagthorpe and Christian and Yberville and the rest of my lads to quit piracy or sail out of the Caribbean Sea. That's what I've done."

Colonel Bishop followed his protest, but Lord Julian was more conciliatory.

"It is possible," Lord Julian admitted, "that my Lord Sunderland will be satisfied, provided that the solution is as you promise. Speaking on behalf of my Lord Sunderland, I am content to await the result of your experiment."

"Are you, indeed?" Bishop roared. "Well, then, I am not."

"Then I'll be wishing ye both a very good day," Blood swept off his feathered hat, and made them a leg very elegantly.

"Before you go," said Bishop, "and to save you from any idle rashness, I'll tell you that the Harbor-Master and the Commandant have their orders. You don't leave Port Royal, my fine gallows bird. Damme, I mean to provide you with permanent moorings here, in Execution Dock. You do not leave this house. He took a step in the direction of the doorway, and raised his voice. "No there . . ." he was beginning to call.

Captain Blood's right hand had re-emerged from the breast of his doublet, bringing with it a long pistol with silver mountings richly chased, which he leveled within a foot of the Deputy-Governor's head.

"Don't stir from where you are, my lord, or there may be an accident."

And my lord, who had been moving to Bishop's assistance, stood instantly arrested. The Deputy-Governor was swaying on unsteady legs. Peter Blood considered him with a grimace that increased his panic.

"I marvel that I don't pistol you without more ado, ye fat blackguard. Be good enough to give me your arm, Colonel Bishop. Come, come, man, your arm."

Bishop obeyed. Captain Blood tucked his left arm through the Deputy-Governor's proffered right. Then he thrust his own right hand with its pistol back into the breast of his doublet.

"Though invisible, it's aiming at ye none the less, and I give you my word of honor that I'll shoot ye dead upon the very least provocation, whether that provocation is yours or another's. And now, ye greasy hangman, step out as brisk and lively as ye can, and behave as naturally as ye may, or it's the black stream of Cocytus ye'll be contemplating." Arm in arm they passed through the house and down the garden, where Arabella lingered, awaiting Peter Blood's return.

She was convinced now that she had done him a monstrous injustice, therefore she lingered there in the garden, awaiting his return that she might make amends. And when at last he came, it was in company—unusually close and intimate company—with her uncle. In vexation she realized that explanations must be postponed.

He passed, with his companion, from that fragrant garden into the courtyard of the fort. Here the Commandant, who had been instructed to hold himself in readiness with the necessary men against the need to effect the arrest of Captain Blood, was amazed by the curious spectacle of the Deputy-Governor of Jamaica strolling forth arm in arm and apparently on the friendliest terms with the intended prisoner. For as they went, Blood was chatting and laughing briskly.

"Now write unless you prefer the yard-arm."

They passed out of the gates unchallenged, and so came to the mole where the cock-boat from the Arabella was waiting. They took their places side by side in the stern sheets, and were pulled away together, always very close and friendly, to the great red ship where Jeremy Pitt so anxiously awaited news.

Colonel Bishop stood in the waist, his great face blanched to the color of clay, his mouth loose, almost afraid to look at the sturdy ruffians who lounged about the shot-track on the main hatch.

"Now, don't be alarming yourself, Colonel, darling," Blood said. "We'll talk the matter over while we are dining, for I trust ye'll not refuse to honor my table by your company."

He led away the will-less, cowed bull to the great cabin.

"May I ask what . . . what are your intentions?" Bishop quavered.

"Ye've said his lordship made a mistake when he handed me the commission which the Secretary of State did me the honor to design for me. I'm disposed to agree with you; so I'll take to the sea again. I'll be getting back to Tortuga and my buccaners."

"My God!" groaned the Deputy-Governor. "Ye . . . ye never mean that ye'll carry me to Tortuga!"

"No, no. All I want is that ye insure my safe departure from Port Royal. Ye've given certain orders to your Harbor-Master, and others to the Commandant of your plaguey fort. Ye'll be so good as to send for them both aboard here, and inform them in my presence that the Arabella is leaving this afternoon on the King's service and is to pass out unmolested. And so as to make quite sure of their obedience, they shall go a little voyage with us, themselves. Here's what you require. Now write—unless you prefer the yard-arm."

Bishop glared at him; then shrugging heavily, he took up the pen and sat down at the table. In an unsteady hand he wrote that summons to his officers. Blood dispatched it ashore; and then bade his unwilling guest to table.

"I trust, Colonel, your appetite is as stout as usual."

The Captain fell to with a good appetite. But before he was midway through the meal came Hayton to inform him that Lord Julian Wade had just come aboard, and was asking to see him instantly.

"I was expecting him," said Blood. "Fetch him in."

Blood signalled to the servant, who was standing behind Bishop.

"Set a chair for his lordship, Hayton, send his lordship's boat ashore. Tell them he'll not be returning yet awhile."

"What's that?" cried his lordship. "Blister me! D'ya mean to detain me?"

"Just to make myself and my lads here safe from Colonel Bishop's gallows. There's a note from his hand gone ashore to summon the Harbor-Master and the Commandant of the fort. Once they are aboard, I shall have all the hostages I need for our safety."

"You fool," his lordship said. "Do you dream that I came aboard your pirate ship without taking my measures? I informed the Commandant of exactly how you had compelled Colonel Bishop to accompany you. Judge now whether he or the Harbor-Master will obey the summons, or whether you will be allowed to depart as you imagine."

"I'm sorry for that," said Blood. "But not on my own account. It's the Deputy-Governor there I'm sorry for. D'ye know what ye've done? Sure, now, ye've very likely hanged him."

"My God!" cried Bishop in a sudden increase of panic.

Bernier Says Peary
Never Reached Pole

Noted Canadian Explorer Claims He Has Absolute Proof

Disclaiming any intention of belittling the memory of Rear-Admiral Robert Peary, U.S.N., generally credited with the discovery of the North Pole in 1909, Captain J. E. Bernier, noted Canadian Arctic explorer, in an interview backed up his previously expressed opinion that the United States explorer had not actually discovered the pole, as the latter believed.

Quoting from numerous records in his possession, the veteran explorer stated that at the time Peary was supposed to have attained his objective, in April, 1909, it was shown that he (Peary) had no means of taking observations, for the simple reason that it was later proved that there was not enough sun in that part of the north.

Captain Bernier has, along with other documents in his possession, an official communication from Sir Clement Markham, who at that time was the president of the Royal Geographical Society in London. Sir Clement tells the explorer that the records of Peary had been studied in detail, following the latter's return to New York, but there could be no decision arrived at by that organization in connection with the alleged discovery of the pole.

"Did you ever think of refuting Peary's claim before this?" Captain Bernier was asked.

"Yes," he said, "but I was never approached on the subject, and I did not see why I should start any controversy. I believe I have proof positive that Peary never reached the pole, and I stand ready to prove to the world that I am not bluffing."

Engineer's Remarkable Record

During Forty Years Drove Engine
1,460,000 Miles Without An Accident

To have driven his engine 1,460,000 miles without an accident is the proud record of John Heales, engine driver on the London and North Eastern Railway at Selby, Eng.

He has just completed 50 years' service, over 40 years as driver, during which he has driven on an average of 100 miles a day.

Recently when the Bladsworth Hounds were hunting in the Selby country they got on the main Selby to Leeds line between Hambleton and Selby. The veteran driver pulled up among the hounds, and although some of them were underneath the train, not a single hound was injured.

His physicians' advice was couched as follows: "You are run down, sir. You need an ocean voyage. Will your business permit it?"

"Oh, yes," cheerily replied the patient. "I'm second mate of the Anna Maria, just in from Hong Kong."

WRIGLEY'S

Trying To Solve
Mystery Of Death

Experiments Being Made In London
Laboratory By English Scientists

In a laboratory in London, England, two scientists—one a surgeon—are trying to solve the mystery of death, what it is, and how it can be postponed.

They have already shown that the cumulative effects of the radio-active emanations from the soil have a detrimental effect on the human body, and may even be the cause of death.

It is known that a definite amount of exposure to radium produces fatal results, and this amount is just equal to the accumulated exposure to which everyone is subject in the course of an average lifetime of 70 years. The only protection would be the wearing of armor of some material such as lead a tenth of an inch thick, which would render the wearers immune.

The experiments in the London laboratory have shown that human muscles, and probably nerves as well, are composed of tiny crystals possessing peculiar electric qualities, and that every time the muscles contract the crystals change in shape.

It is already known that if certain crystals are pressed out of shape weak electric currents are produced, and it is surmised that this may be the explanation of the human electric currents that are produced each time the muscles make a movement.

As yet these scientists are only on the verge of discovering what part these currents play in life and how they may be controlled. The results of their experiments are shortly to be officially announced to the scientific world.

British Suffered Most From War

And No Nation Has Made More
Sacrifices For Peace

So far as Great Britain is concerned, she has already disarmed. She has drastically cut down her army. Her air force is but the shadow of the great organization which it was at the close of the war, when it was superior in strength and efficiency to that of any other nation. The British navy now takes second place in the world, whether in point of numbers or of new ships. . . . No people in the world have made such sacrifices for peace; perhaps, also, no people in the world, not even our Allies, the French, have suffered so much from war.—London Daily Mail.

Searching For Great Treasure

Baku Society May Find Wealth Of Alexander the Great

Search has been begun by the Azerbaijan Archaeological Society for the treasure of Alexander the Great, which is believed to be buried near the village of Andrievka, in the Shemakha district, about 65 miles from Baku.

The archaeologists were led to excavate by the statement of an eighty-year-old resident of Andrievka who declared he is in possession of an ancient map stolen from a Turkish ghilan many years ago, showing the exact spot where the treasure is buried.

Workers in Norway and Sweden are demanding increased wages, asserting that the cost of living has increased.

MINARD'S Relieved
His Rheumatism

Here is one of many letters testifying to the relief Minard's gives in cases of rheumatism. "I have been relieved of rheumatism by your liniment. I thought I would never be free from this malady and I tried many remedies, but Minard's was the only one which gave me relief."

Chemist Often Assists
In Detecting Forgery

Suspected Documents Often Proved
False by Paper and Ink Used

The expert in handwriting is generally given the chief honor in the detection of forgery, but actually the skill of this expert is applicable in a few cases only, and even in these his evidence is unreliable outside certain narrow limits, writes R. C. Nicholls in an English paper.

The skill of the chemist, on the other hand, is capable of far wider application, and his evidence is definitely reliable, being the result of reasoning based on scientific facts.

When a suspected document is alleged to be old, the composition of the paper sometimes offers very complete evidence of forgery. For instance, it is obvious that a document is forged when it is written on paper made from wood pulp and yet bears a date long before pulp was used for making paper.

In the Menzies case documents bearing dates from 1719 to 1772, brought forward in support of a percentage claim, were alleged to have been altered.

The chemist consulted proved that the ink used for making the alleged alterations was different in composition from that used for the remainder of the document. And this was not all, for the chemist was also able to show that the alterations had been made with a steel pen. And as steel pens were not invented until 1808, 90 years after the date of the document, forgery was evident.

What the World Needs

Cry Is For Security and Stability Says
British Foreign Secretary

What Britishers require today is peace, not only at home but abroad, said Austen Chamberlain, the British foreign secretary, at the annual dinner of the London chamber of commerce, at which he was the principal guest. Women attended the banquet for the first time in its history.

"The cry of the world is for security and stability," declared Mr. Chamberlain, "the passionate anxiety of the people being to get away from the horrors of yesterday, to be able to turn face on them resolutely and face with courage all difficulties and try to solve the problems of the future."

Mr. Chamberlain argued that the most profound pacifists were apt to be also the most aggressive people.

To Tag Whales

English Expedition to Study Habits of Giant Marine Mammals

An expedition is being organized in England for the purpose, among others, of shooting small darts bearing identity discs into the backs of whales in order that man may learn something more about the marine giants.

Lieut. Stenhouse is undertaking the expedition for the colonial office. He will sail in June for the Falkland Islands, off the South American coast and whenever possible a whale will be tagged with an identity disc. "Among the questions the expedition hopes to answer are: Are whales polygamous? What is their birth rate? What do they eat? How far do they travel? The discs will provide an answer to the last question.

Prince Of Wales' Umbrella

Gorgeous Silk One Made Especially For His Use In Africa

Kings of ancient Egypt used the umbrella as an emblem of sovereignty. In West Africa it is still a symbol of royalty, and a gathering of umbrellas is a magnificent affair. The umbrella the Prince of Wales has been using on the Gold Coast was specially made for him in England to the order of the King of Akim, the Hon. Nana Ofori Atta, O.B.E., an enlightened monarch. It is in rich silk, in the Akim colors—blue, red and gold—and on top the state emblem of Eastern Akim—a leopard, stool, crown and sword—is carried out in gold.

The Way Out

"I know of no easy way out of this crisis. There is but one way—along the path of clean, unselfish living, of determination and endeavor. That was the spirit that saved us in the great crisis and that spirit alone will enable us to emerge triumphantly from the crisis in which we find ourselves today."—R. A. Hoey, Springfield, Manitoba.

Unlike the Chinese who prefer male children, the native African welcomes a girl because her work at home is valuable and she has a cash price, when she comes of marriageable age, in cattle, goats, or sheep.

Has Had Romantic Career

W. H. Nourse at Eighty is Writing
Autobiography

Walter H. Nourse, who has just passed the eightieth milestone of his romantic and checkered career, and who is known from ocean to ocean in Canada, is now completing an autobiography called "The Vicissitudes of a Vagrant."

Few men have had so unusual a career as Nourse. He was in India and China before coming to Canada at the age of 20. He farmed near Hamilton, and was a banker in Toronto. He roamed the plains with the bison, portaged the rapids of the Mackenzie with the early fur traders, was deputy minister of agriculture in the first Manitoba Government, mixed in Mexican and Hawaiian revolutions, has written books and edited newspapers, has been publisher, manufacturer and company promoter, and was a friend of Sir William Van Horne, Lord Strathcona and Lord Dufferin.

Nourse has just recovered from a severe illness. "When I look back over my life, the sights and sounds of a trail breaker are vivid in my memory, the grey dawn breaking in camps on the northern trails, the crunch of heels in the snow, and the yelps of huskies harnessed once more to the sled. I'd like to be young again, just to live my life over."

Bad News For Fat People

Toronto Doctor Says That Dieting Is Useless For Many Cases

That almost one-third of the fat people can never reduce by dieting, was the statement of Dr. H. C. Wales, of Toronto, in an address on "Obesity and the Endocrines," before the forty-fifth annual meeting of the Ontario Medical Association. He explained that their obesity was due to some defect in the endocrine glands. "They have to have special treatment," he said. "We are specially interested in children, because they are the ones with which we get the best results." The fat that refuses to be "reduced" may be due to some deficiency of the various ductless glands, and Dr. Wales foresees the day when these glands will be extracted for use, just as insulin has been obtained from the pancreas.

Why He Chose Canada

Englishman Thought What Suited
Prince Was Good Enough For Him

"What was good enough for the Prince of Wales is good enough for me," was the principle that guided W. W. Hubbell, late of Staffordshire, England, in choosing Canada as the future home for himself and family.

"Yes," said Mr. Hubbell, "when a man like the Prince of Wales, who has travelled all over the world, buys a ranch in Alberta, it means that he has found Canada to be a pretty good country." The Hubbells, however, will take up farming in Manitoba. Mrs. Hubbell also was questioned as to why Canada was selected. "Well," she said, "I had a great-uncle out here who lived to be 113 years old. I concluded it must be a healthy country, even though it does get cold at times."

Royal Pair Visited
Tutankhamen's Tomb

Duke and Duchess of York Took Arduous Journey Across Desert

The Duchess of York, it is said, is thinking of publishing in book form the diary which she has kept of her big game hunting trip to Kenya. Few details of the tour have been made public, but those in the know in Nairobi say that the royal pair had some remarkable escapes from the lions, elephants and buffalo. On their way from Khartum to Cairo the Duke and Duchess made a detour to the Valley of Kings to see Tutankhamen's tomb, travelling part of the way by car and the rest on donkey-back across the desert—a somewhat arduous journey. Several times the royal couple were carried over swamps and rivers pickaback by natives.

Platinum From Sudbury

Finally revised statistics for 1921 on the production of platinum as reported by the Dominion bureau of statistics at Ottawa, show that except for a small amount of five ounces, which was recovered from the British Columbia placer, the total output of 9,186 ounces, was derived from the copper-nickel ores of the Sudbury district.

Not So Blind

A travelling man, after vainly trying to make clear an argument to a fellow passenger, finally yelled, somewhat angrily: "Why, it's as plain as A B C."

"That may be," said the other, "but I'm D E F."

The objection to a pistol is that you are tempted to use it when it isn't necessary and haven't time when it is.

Snakes In Ireland

Small Serpent is Found in the Vicinity
Of Dublin

Notwithstanding the legend that St. Patrick banished all the snakes from Ireland, one has been discovered in Dublin, and is now on exhibition in the national museum. It is a very small specimen, less than two feet long, and of the harmless variety. News of the find caused much comment in the press.

Snakes have occasionally been brought into Ireland from overseas, but they have never known to breed there.

BEST MEDICINE
SHE EVER USED

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills Highly Praised by a Nova Scotia Lady

Among the well known and esteemed residents of Hemford, N.S., is Mrs. Amanda Woodworth. Some four years ago Mrs. Woodworth had the misfortune to lose her husband, and as a result of caring for him during his illness, and attending to farm duties, she became terribly run-down. Mrs. Woodworth says she felt as though her blood had turned to water. The least exertion would leave her tired and breathless. She was often attacked by spells of weakness that left her almost speechless, and frequently suffered from severe headaches. The medicines she took did not help her, and she almost despaired of gaining her health. In this condition she one day read in a newspaper of a case very similar to her own, in which health was restored through the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. This made her decide to give these pills a trial. After using a few boxes she found the pills were helping her, and she continued their use until her old-time health and vitality were restored. Now Mrs. Woodworth looks after a small farm of fifteen acres, besides doing all her housework, and says she never felt better or more energetic in her life. She gives credit for her present splendid health to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, which she says are the best medicine she ever used, and strongly recommends the pills to all run-down people.

You can get these Pills from any medicine dealer, or by mail at 50 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Compound

Cornwall, Ontario.—"I am now giving your medicine a fair trial and it surely is doing me good and I am going to keep on taking it. I used to feel so tired in the morning that I didn't want to get up, but that feeling is leaving me now. I also sleep better and feel more like working. For seven or eight years I have had headaches, tired feelings, pains in my back and across my body. I read letters in the newspapers saying what good Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound had done others. My husband says I quit too soon, but I am not going to stop taking the Vegetable Compound and Lydia E. Pinkham's Blood Medicine until I am better and haven't an ache or a pain. Isn't that the right way? I have great faith in your medicines. They must be good when those who take them speak so highly of them. I am recommending them to my friends and I will gladly answer letters from women asking about them."—Mrs. BERT H. MAKING A GOOD TOWN BETTER

The tourists of any country advertise it for better or for worse, depending upon the impressions made on them and the treatment accorded them by the local citizens while they are stopping in the community. Many people become so accustomed to "tourists," that they are inclined to remain indifferent as to the strangers' welfare. From a community standpoint this is a great mistake to say nothing of the humanitarian side.It is the man who comes into Gleichen and then leaves that tells the outside world what kind of a town we have. He is the man who either will come later and bring his family to reside in Gleichen, or induce others to come, provided Gleichen and the people impress him favorably. He also is the fellow who will give Gleichen a black eye if he receives the slightest mistreatment or if the place does not appeal to him. Memories, either for good or bad, linger with him, and he is not averse to telling the world all about it.Don't overcharge tourists. This is the "sticker" with them. They will remember an overcharge long after you have spent the money it represents. A penny gained in overcharging is a dollar lost to your community's future.The Bible says something about turning the stranger from the door lest you turn away an angel unknown. So it is with the tourist. Remember he has the energy, the ambition and the money to come on a long trip, and the courtesy to make your town one of his objective points.Good hotel facilities always help a community to grow. And with good hotels should come ample and well-managed auto camp grounds. Although some folks "turn up their noses" at so-called "tin can tourists," they are often future valuable citizens in disguise.Local business men, boards of trade, auto clubs, and town officials should always be on the alert to extend every courtesy to the tourist and traveller.Canada is one of the most wonderful countries in the world. Quebec has 90 percent of all the world's asbestos Ontario 90 percent of all the world's nickel, Alberta alone has 15 percent of all the world's coal. We have coal and iron at tidewater east and west, an asse that occurs in but few places in the world, and one that largely contributed to Great Britain's greatness. We are the third gold producers of the world and going rapidly towards first place.
We have silver, copper, lead, zinc, cobalt, quartz, gypsum, mica, cement, clay, lime, sand and gravel, stone, mineral arsenic, salt, oil, natural gas, and twenty-five other minerals. We have timber, furs, fisheries, great agricultural lands, 18,250,000 horse power in our waterpowers. We have great waterways on which to carry our trade, and last but not least, a virile manhood second to noneThe assistant manager of a daily, speaking recently before a group of business and professional women, struck both a truth and an ideal when he asserted that the day of yellow journalism is past, and that the vast majority of newspapers of today are striving to make their columns cleaner. "The reporter," says he, "unlike the majority of workers owes his product to the people and is duty bound to give his readers and the public the fruit of his day's efforts." And here is where the newspaper management can serve by having the public welfare at heart "for," continues the speaker, "the ideal newspaper is one that can go into any home and be read by anyone, especially the children, and have a good influence. The home newspaper of today is a journal of education, that builds up instead of tears down."There is hardly a man in public life in Gleichen who does not receive criticism. Sometimes this criticism is constructive, sometimes it is destructive. Our public officials from time to time and from year to year get it on every hand. Every president or chairman of a club or society, all of them, sometime or other, get criticised.This is the season when wild parties are held, when some drivers keep one hand on wheel and the other arm envelops a girl, when the flasks are in great demand. It is the season when danger lurks around every curve, when speed is more desired than safety.As a rule business men are not given to poetry, but the most successful rhyme ever conceived is "wise" and "advertise".

Progressive Amendment For Revision Of Tariff Defeated In The House

Ottawa.—The Progressive amendment to the budget, calling for a downward revision of the tariff, was defeated in the house by 110 to 33, a government majority of 77.

Voting with the government members in the negative were the 11 Conservatives present and 14 Progressives and Independents. The 11 were: Messrs. Kennedy, of Glenora; McDonald, of Temiskaming; Shaw, of West Calgary; Fred Johnston, of Last Mountain; McCondon, of Battleford; Pritchard, of North Wellington; Reed, of Frontenac; Jelliff, of Lethbridge; Sexsmith, of Lennox, Prince Edward Island; Black, of Huron; Neil, of Comox; McBride, of Carleton; Humphries, of Kootenay; and Findlay, of South Bruce.

The 33 who voted for the amendment comprised 31 Progressives, including Robert Forke, Progressive leader, Hon. T. A. Cresser, and the two Labor members.

As debate on the main budget motion had been the longest in the history of the Canadian Parliament, so debate on the amendment was one of the shortest on record.

Sir Rider Haggard Dead

Celebrated British Author Was Also Expert Agriculturist

London.—Sir H. Rider Haggard, the author, died here May 14.

Sir Henry Rider Haggard was born in Bradenham, Norfolk, June 22, 1856. He engaged in government service in South Africa, and while a young man became celebrated as a writer of romances and tales of adventure with African backgrounds. From 1882 to 1924, scarcely a year passed without publication of a novel by him.

Although he achieved a world reputation as a maker of fiction, it was known to but few that the real life work of Sir Rider was in the field of practical agriculture, in which he gained the highest reputation among experts.

Condemn Reparation Plan

German Officers Declare It Is Incapable of Fulfillment

Berlin.—The National Federation of German officers condemned the Dawes reparation plan as incapable of fulfillment, and as "serious damage to German industrial life," beside the political gagging and enslaving of the German people.

The convention criticized the government for not sending to the foreign powers a disclaimer of Germany's war guilt.

The federation opposed the security pact proposed by the government, because "it means not only the sacrifice of our nationals in the coded territories, but voluntary recognition of the shameful Treaty of Versailles."

Revision of Grain Act

Pool Agency Confers With Canadian Council of Agriculture

Winnipeg.—Directors of the central selling agency of the provincial wheat pools adjourned their monthly business meeting and received in conference representatives of the Canadian council of agriculture.

Discussions at the meeting centred in drawing up recommendations whereby the present Canada Grain Act could be amended and the present form, under which it has been declared ultra vires, improved.

Canadian Wins Theological Prize

New Haven, Conn.—Prof. W. C. McIntosh, a Canadian and a graduate of McMaster University, Toronto, has been awarded the Gross prize of $5,000, which is given once in five years by the Lake Forest University of Chicago for the best theological work. Prof. McIntosh is a member of the faculty of Yale Divinity School.

Urge Rural Credits

Ottawa.—A resolution urging the government to bring down legislation, at the present session of parliament, for the establishment of an adequate rural credit system, was passed by the banking and commerce committee of the House of Commons by a large majority.

Discuss Postal Salaries

Toronto, Ont.—Postmaster-General Hon. Charles Murphy has asked all branches of the postal service to send representatives to Ottawa to meet a sub-committee of the cabinet to discuss a revision of salaries. It has become known here.

W. N. U. 1577

U.S. Would Limit Spread In Grain Quotations

Washington.—Adoption of rules by the grain exchange limiting the spread in daily quotations was recommended by Secretary Jardine as a means of preventing unreasonable fluctuations and manipulation of grain prices. The recommendations were contained in a report on the preliminary investigation by the department of agriculture, under the Grain Futures Act, of the sharp fluctuation in future grain quotations on the Chicago board of trade, beginning in January.

Industrial Disputes Act

Amended Apt. Passes House of Commons

Ottawa.—With these changes, the bill to amend the Industrial Disputes Investigation Act (commonly known as the Lemieux Act) went through all stages in the house. The bill was made necessary by the decision of the privy council which found the existing I.D.I. Act ultra vires, in that it encroached on provincial jurisdiction. The purpose of the bill, generally speaking, is to limit the application of the act to matters not within the legislative jurisdiction of any province. There is a further provision to take advantage of the provisions of the Dominion act should it so desire.

CONTINUE WORK OF ASSISTING ARMY VETERANS

Ottawa.—Some interesting figures on the cost of soldiers' re-establishment have been submitted to the house. Not including the cost of administration, the department last year disbursed $19,567.79 for pensions and re-establishment of veterans of the Great War. The cost of administration was $2,485,645, or about 12 per cent. of the total disbursements.

In answer to suggestions that the department of soldiers' civil re-establishment should be abolished, Hon. H. S. Beaudet told the house there was no hope that the machinery of the department could soon be dispensed with.

For many years the payment of pensions, Canadian and Imperial, the providing of treatment, the supply of artificial limbs, and all other services handled by the department, must go on. Personally, said Dr. Beaudet, he was not anxious to remain as minister of the department one moment longer than was required by the department.

Senate Vacancies

Government Awaiting Outcome of Proposed Provincial Convention

Ottawa.—The possibility that the proposed inter-provincial conference on senate reform might result in a reduction in the membership of the senate was suggested in the upper chamber as a reason for the delay in filling the seven vacant seats in the senate.

Answering, Raoul Dandurand, government leader, said that his impression was that the government had not filled the vacancies because it was awaiting the outcome of the proposed provincial convention on the senate.

Senator Loughheed added that perhaps the approaching general election might have something to do with the delay.

Briand's Reply To Germany Courteous

British Foreign Office Received Copy Of Security Pact Proposal

Paris.—Foreign Minister Briand sent to the British foreign office at London, a copy of his reply to Germany, regarding the German security pact proposal. It is understood it is a courteous document, which takes Germany's good faith for granted, leaves the question of the Polish frontier to future negotiations, and avoids mention of any condition to an acceptance of a proper security pact.

Colonial Office In Britain

London.—The Morning Post, dealing with the proposed reorganization of the colonial office, says it doubts if the word "colonial," in connection with the office, really offends the susceptibilities of the overseas dominions. "This agitation about a mere name seems puerile and shallow," the Post adds.

Estimates Smaller This Year

Ottawa.—A vote for $21,500 covering salaries in the department of soldiers' civil re-establishment was passed in the house after considerable discussion. This year's estimate is $7,320 less than last year's vote.

Voted For The Budget

J. FRED JOHNSTON, M.P.

for Last Mountain, who resigned his position as chief whip of the Progressive party, as a result of voting for the budget in opposition to his leader.

Declares Canada Is Interpreter Of Ideals

President of Toronto University Delivers Address in London

London.—Canada's position as the interpreter of ideals between the two great English-speaking nations, Britain and the United States, featured the address of Sir Robert Falconer, president of the University of Toronto, delivered here at a large gathering presided over by the Lord Mayor of London.

Sir Robert declared it was evident Canada now held an extraordinary position of vantage, compared with even half a century ago. Britain regarded Canada with the pride of a mother over her first-born.

Canada, said the speaker, would perform her function of interpreter between the two nations, not of set purpose, but by simply being true to herself and living her own life. Even more important than that was the function which Canada might perform in interpreting to the United States the character of the British commonwealth.

New Equipment For C.N.R.

President Thornton Says $18,940,625 Will Be Spent On Improvement

Ottawa.—Sir Henry Thornton, before the railway and shipping committee of the House of Commons, gave the figure from the 1925-1926 budget of the National Railways to be spent upon construction, betterment and new equipment as $18,940,625. New equipment is, he said, to include 500 freight cars for carrying automobiles, five observation sleeping cars, and five mountain type engines.

Sir Henry did not think the grand total of assets would be increased during the present fiscal year, as during the past fiscal year.

Build New Elevators

Saskatchewan Wheat Pool Has Mapped Out Programme

Regina, Sask.—The Saskatchewan wheat pool has decided to build elevators at the following fifteen points: Balgonie, Indian Head, Dodsland, Tumbler, Watrous, Colville, North Kinley, Broderick, Disley, Stoughton, Dubuc, Milestone, Yellowknife, Hulya and Vantage.

At none of these points, it was stated, is there a farmer-owned elevator and all have more than 10,000 acres under contract to the pool.

Traffic In Arms

To Exclude Armored Cars and Flame Throwers From Control

Geneva.—The military commission of the League of Nations international conference for the control of traffic in arms and munitions, has decided to recommend that armored cars, armored trains and flame throwers be excluded from control. The full conference must pass upon the commission's recommendation.

Mennonites For Southern Alberta

Winnipeg.—The Mennonite board at a meeting here decided that a group of Mennonites, from the 130 recently arrived, will be settled in the sugar beet district of Southern Alberta. The meeting was held in the office of the Canada Colonization Association. Many of the newcomers are experienced beet growers. They all had money, and paid their own fares to Canada.

Delegation To Russia

London.—The British Labor party has decided to accept the official Russian invitation to send a deputation to Russia to study the possibilities of an improvement in Anglo-Russian trade.

Canadian Chief Of Staff Sees Danger Of War

Ottawa.—Addressing a military gathering here, General J. H. MacBrien, Canadian chief of staff, said extolling peace would not prevent war. "No thinking man can read the daily papers, make an examination of the frontiers in Europe, read of the trade rivalry between the United States and Japan, realize the huge importance placed by commercial countries on control over such strategic positions as the Suez Canal and the Straits of Gibraltar, without coming to the conclusion that sooner or later, there must be grave danger of war," the general said.

U.S. Border Officers Increase Outposts

Making Effort To Halt Unlawful Entry Of Aliens

Minot, N.D.—Immigration forces operating along the international boundary line have increased their outposts considerably within the last few days in a determined effort to halt the unlawful entrance of aliens into this country from Canada, according to F. A. Winsor, of Portage, N.D., inspector in charge of patrol, who is in Minot.

Not in many months, according to the official, have there been so many foreigners attempting or planning to make unlawful entrance into this country. However, with additional patrolmen available, and every foot of the border now covered by experienced men, it is believed the situation is well under control.

Creamery Plant For Bulyea

Moose Jaw Firm Completes Arrangements For Opening Branch

Bulyea, Sask.—Complete arrangements have been made with the management of the Western Creameries, of Moose Jaw, to establish a branch of the firm in Bulyea. A. J. Jones, representative of the creameries, was here last week and documents were signed. The entire issue of stock covering the enterprise was quickly subscribed. A site has been located and inspected and arrangements made to begin work in the very near future. The management expects to have the plant in operation by the first week in July.

Wheat Carry Over Smaller

World Supply Is Sufficient Until New Crop Is Marketed

Washington.—Indications of a smaller world wheat carry over on July 1 were published by the department of agriculture. The carry over was estimated at 125,000,000 bushels as compared with 233,000,000 bushels July 1 last year, and 256,000,000 bushels July 1, 1923. This indicates that sufficient wheat is available for the world's needs till the new crop comes upon the market, the department declared.

BRITAIN TAKING MEASURES TO SUPPRESS REDS

London.—The Daily Chronicle says the police are taking strong measures against the Bolsheviks in London. The permits of numerous persons to remain in England have been cancelled and the renewal of others refused, the number thus dealt with mounting into the hundreds.

Quantities of literature also have been seized. In consequence of these measures, the paper declares, the Bolshevik bookshop, here, where the newspaper Pravda, the Izvestia, and other publications were sold, has been closed, and the official Bolshevik paper in England, the Soviet Union Review, has ceased publication.

The staffs of the Russian commercial establishments are being greatly reduced, says the Chronicle, but it is unaware whether this is due to the police campaign or merely to economy.

Many Divorces Granted

Ottawa.—Thirty-one divorce bills were handled in their various stages within twenty minutes in the House of Commons recently. A score passed committee stage and were given final reading in the first fifteen minutes. The rest were given second reading and went to the private bills committee.

Col. Dennistoun Resigns

London.—Lieut.-Col. Ian Onslow Dennistoun, whose former wife, Dorothy Marie Dennistoun, lost a breach of contract case against him recently in a trial marked by sensational testimony, has resigned his commission in the army. The reason is not given.

Relations Between France And Britain Are More Cordial

German Competition In Shipbuilding

Sir Alfred Yarrow Terms Dole System In Britain a Curse

Montreal.—A gloomy picture of conditions in England was drawn here by Sir Alfred Yarrow, head of Yarrow and Company, shipbuilders, who declared Germany could build as good ships as England, although few British shipping men would acknowledge the fact, and that the cost of construction in Germany was about 20 per cent. cheaper.

Sir Alfred described the dole system as "giving away money to increase idleness" and as "one of the greatest curses of the country."

Business For Merchant Marine

Urges Policy To Secure An Increased Chilled Meat Trade

Ottawa.—In the course of the examination of the annual report of the Canadian Government Merchant Marine by the House of Commons committee on railways and shipping, Sir Henry Drayton strongly urged the merchant marine management to undertake a policy to secure an increased chilled meat trade. New Zealand, he said, was carrying to Britain at the same rate used by Canadian lines because they were contracting for maximum loadings.

Declares He Was Hypnotized

Drew Money From Bank In France Says Montreal Artist

Montreal.—George Grandperrin, artist, complained to the police that two strangers visited his home ostensibly to buy some of his pictures, and that one of the pair "hypnotized" him into withdrawing $1,400 from his bank account. He declares he went to the bank in a trance, took out the money and handed it over. The police showed him through the "rogues' gallery," but he failed to recognize any of the photographs.

Asquith Praises Lloyd George

London.—Generous and lofty references to Mr. Lloyd George, the colleague with whom he was at one time notoriously at open enmity, was the most loudly cheered part of the speech of Lord Oxford and Asquith, when he received the freedom of the City of London.

"Provision, almost miraculous in its range, and providence of munitions, and a wholly new armory to meet wholly new exigencies, will live in history as the unique achievement of Lloyd George," he said.

Planning New Cables

Chicago.—Routes for new cables announced by the Western Electric Company include one from Victoria, B.C., to Suva, capital of the Fiji Islands, and one connecting Bay Roberts, Nfld., and London. There will also be a link from Bay Roberts to New York. Work on the new lines is to be started at once.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

SAUL BEGINS HIS GREAT CAREER

Golden Text: I determined not to know anything among you, save Jesus Christ, and Him crucified. I. Corinthians 2:2.

Lesson: Acts 9:20-21.

Devotional Reading: Joshua 1:1-9.

The Text Explained and Illumined

I. Paul Proclaims Christ at Damascus, verses 20-22. Upon his return from Arabia (see The Historical Background), Paul joined the circle of disciples at Damascus and proclaimed Jesus to be the Son of God. His bold preaching greatly amazed the Jewish authorities, who knew what his course had been at Jerusalem and what his purpose had been in coming to Damascus. But Paul's power as a preacher for Christ increased, and he confounded the Jews, proving that this is the Christ. "The somewhat unusual Greek word for proving means literally putting together, and so is used for the putting together of arguments."

II. Paul's Escape From His Enemies at Damascus, verses 23-25. The defeated Jews plotted to kill Paul, and this became known to him. Learning that the Jews were keeping watch day and night at the city gates to prevent Paul from leaving the city alive, the Christian disciples lowered him in a basket over the city wall, letting the basket down from the window of a house built either against the wall or top of the wall. In somewhat similar fashion the spies escaped from Jericho, Joshua 2:15.

Paris.—Officials of the French foreign office have indicated that a definite policy with regard to the settlement of France's debt to Britain and the United States had been decided upon.

The present relations between France and Britain are regarded here as about as satisfactory as they could be in a changing world. There has been a wave of approval in England recently, which is not regarded as entirely due to the election of Field Marshal Von Hindenburg as president of Germany, but due to the belief that the entente is essential and requires polishing. Prominent diplomats consider that France is undergoing a phase similar to that of 20 years ago.

Responding to the wave of approval, the Marquis of Crewe, British ambassador, gave a brilliant reception to President Doumergue at the British embassy, when several Canadians were present.

Second Reading Of Grain Act Postponed

Hon. Arthur Meighen Objected To Hurry At Important Stage

Ottawa.—The bill amending the Canadian Grain Act, which was scheduled to come before the House of Commons, May 13, for second reading was held over until a later date as the result of objections raised by Right Hon. Arthur Meighen, leader of the Opposition. When Hon. T. A. Low, minister of trade and commerce, undertook to introduce the bill for second reading, Mr. Meighen pointed out that the bill, which was a lengthy one, comprising 55 printed pages, had only been made available that morning and not a single member could possibly have read it.

The second reading was the most important stage and it was not in accordance with customary usage to hurry a bill through at that stage. The prime minister said that the government wished to get the bill before the committee on agriculture, but if there was objection to proceeding at once, the bill would be held over, which was agreed.

Late President Harding Memorial

Will Be Unveiled At Vancouver on September 17

Vancouver.—The fund to build a memorial to the late President Warren Harding in Stanley Park, being collected by Kiwanis Clubs throughout Canada and the United States, has been oversubscribed, it was learned here.

The sum of $35,000 was the objective, and this amount is now in the hands of the International Kiwanis executive at Chicago, and plans are progressing rapidly on the subject. It is planned to unveil the memorial next September, when the International Kiwanis convention will be held in Vancouver, September 17 being the date set for the ceremony.

Funding French War Debt

Paris.—The first active negotiations for funding the French war debt to the United States will begin within 15 days.

The form in which the negotiations will be conducted is undecided, but it is indicated they will be directed through established diplomatic channels, rather than by a special French envoy to the United States.

Will Use British Banks

London.—The Daily Telegraph reports that the Vatican intends to make large financial deposits in Great Britain and that there is keen competition among the banks to secure this business. Before the war the Vatican banked largely in Germany, and it is said to have suffered much loss through the depreciation of the mark.

Famine Threatens Parts of Russia

Harbin, Manchuria.—With prospects of a famine in Western and Southern Russia, owing to the crop failure, Moscow officials are allowing Manchurian wheat to enter the Soviet duty free. A telegram received here from the Russian Government says they are preparing to purchase for cash large quantities of wheat.

Trotsky Joins Russian Cabinet

Moscow.—Leon Trotsky, deposed head of the Soviet army, who recently returned from seclusion in the Caucasus, was elected a member of the Presidium by the Federal Congress of Soviet States. He was given an ovation by the congress.

Protect Your Money While Travelling

ONE of the safest ways of carrying money when travelling is by means of Travellers' Cheques.

They are as good as cash in almost any part of the world and have the distinct advantage of protecting your money against loss. They are self-liquidating and can be cashed only by the original purchaser.

Travellers' Cheques in your pocket are equivalent to ready money.

TOWN AND DISTRICT

All who intend to take advantage of the discount on Town taxes should remember the last day is June 15.

All will be pleased to learn that John (J. Baker), M.A., has recovered from a severe attack of erysipelas.

All Gleichenites will be most pleased to learn that Miss B. Buckley was successful in obtaining her B.A. at the Edmonton University, and Mr. Alfred Leiby captured a gold medal let's cheer.

W. W. Brown states that 23 years ago, May 18, 19 and 20, Gleichen experienced the worst storm known in history. He has a photo showing the snow higher than the stock yard fences—different now.

As the Union Church service at Armwood on Sunday afternoon next in the place of the sermon usually delivered, there will be an address by Miss MacGregor of Toronto. It will be worth while the people of the district generally making an effort to be present, to hear this lady. Service at 3 o'clock, immediately following the Sunday school.

The Gleichen Women's Institute artists got on their third production of "Old Sam" last Friday night at Mills before a crowded house and were well received. The Queenstown Institute followed the play with a very enjoyable dance. The amount realized for the play was about $50, and the Gleichen ladies have since paid the entire amount due on the lot they are presenting to the Community Hall.

Mr. Rupert Hunter and bride returned to Gleichen last Saturday after spending a honeymoon of over four months in the west. The popular young couple were given a "welcome home Monday night" that they will not soon forget. The Gleichen brass band and several other "bands" turned out in full strength. We will not tell all about it, but never was there a more popular young couple returned to Gleichen.

On Sunday evening next in the Union Church Miss E. MacGregor of Toronto will give an address. It is hoped that so many as possible of the congregation and the people generally will avail themselves of the opportunity to hear Miss MacGregor.

She has a splendid story of the needs of the remote districts of the "Canadian west and is thoroughly conversant with the problems of the new Canadians and with the work that is being done among them. This speaker has a fine personality and should have a good hearing.

Four hundred men will be needed in Southern Alberta this year to do the work in connection with the selling of sugar beets on more than 6000 acres for the new sugar factory now being built at Raymond.

R. W. Brown is still selling home-made bread at 10 cents a loaf and saving on hand a considerable quantity of flour hopes to continue selling at this price at least until the new wheat comes on the market.

IS NOW HISTORY

Gleichen's First Home-Buying-Week is over. It's impressions remain and will effect and stimulate business all through the season.

People found out a thing or two, and when it comes to brass tacks the big mail order fellow is not going to get so much of Gleichen District cash in the future.

That We Can Sell the Goods we proved to our entire satisfaction during the week, and hereby express our appreciation of the splendid response to our efforts.
